Water use charge will be doubled over two years

Water consumption charges in the village of Minden will be doubled over the next two years in an attempt to decrease a deficit of $33,000 plaguing the water department.

Consumption charges average $48.88 in the village, and will be increased to $73.32 this year. A further 50 percent increase next year will bring rates to $97.76 per household.

The jump will also effect user charges for the sewer system, which are set at 218 percent of water consumption charges.

The decision to increase the rates in two stages came at a meeting of council last Wednesday night.

Clerk Elinor Burke told council the deficit resulted from debenture payments on improvements to the village water system.

When application was made for the improvements in 1973, the Ontario Municipal Board approved a mill rate of 30 mills for the water system. The rate was adequate at the time, but has not been high enough to meet increased costs. To raise the mill rate, council must apply to the Ontario Municipal Board, a move it is expected to consider in the near future.

In the meantime, council agreed it had no choice but to up the user charges. Councillor Stuart Brandon argued in favour of doubling the rates in an effort to get rid of the deficit as quickly as possible. But councillor Len Lonsberry, deputy reeve Doug Pritchard and reeve Sinc Nesbitt all felt the move would hit people on fixed incomes especially hard.

"It's taken five years to get here (into the deficit position) so why not take three years to get it back," Nesbitt argued.

In the end, council agreed to up the rates 100 percent, but in two stages, this year and next.

Careful thought urged on rec. director idea

A representative of the Ministry of Culture and Recreation has cautioned Dysart et al council against moving too fast to hire a recreation director for the community.

Brenda Couch told a joint meeting of council and the recreation committee Monday night that a detailed job description should be worked out, setting down the complete responsibilities of the proposed director before any decision is made.

The ministry representative asked council and the committee to develop a list of needs for a recreation director in a municipality the size of Dysart et al, including more than the village of Haliburton. Both groups felt the greatest need was to co-ordinate activities and make better use of the facilities available. Also discussed was what assistance a recreation director might give the arena manager, all minor sports, summer programs such as swimming, as well as lake associations.

Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearney said council and the recreation committee also agreed that if a recreation director proves feasible, the scope of his or her responsibilities will have to include parks.

The consensus of the meeting was that any move toward a recreation director "cannot be done quickly if it is to be done properly," the reeve said.

As a result of the meeting, a joint committee of council and recreation committee members will be set up to visit areas suggested by the ministry representative, including Simcoe County, Southampton and Port Elgin.

Students at the Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School participated in a series of events at their Fun Day last Friday. Here, these two youngsters show real teamwork as they try to defeat their opponents in the tug-o-war contest. For more pictures see page 7.

Resolution passed seeking dissolution, OMB to outline procedure

Coboconk wants change in status

by Sue Cooper

Coboconk is trying to dissolve its police village status because of the financial problems it creates.

Trustee Howard Souter said Monday the village is having trouble managing on the amount of money it is allotted every year.

"The way times have changed over the years, there is not enough money for us to operate on," he said.

The police village receives a certain amount of the mill rate from both Bexley and Somerville townships as the borderline runs through the center of town.

But because the village is in separate townships it makes the dissolution even more difficult according to Souter.

"It makes it rather miserable," he said.

Souter said the police village was originally brought into being in 1943.

"The reason for a police village is to get people to take interest in these certain areas," he explained.

If the police village could be dissolved the townships would then look after the business of the village instead of the three-member board of trustees.

Police village clerk, Ruth

Weaver, said Monday the board has unanimously passed a resolution to try and dissolve the police village. The resolution was sent to the Ontario Municipal Board (OMB).

When the resolution was received by the OMB, a staff member telephoned the clerk and advised her that the trustees should not take any more action on the request until the OMB had made further contact and sent all the particulars to the village representatives.

Although this is the first time Coboconk has applied for a dissolution and the trustees do not know exactly what steps will have to be followed, Weaver said a public meeting probably would have to be held to discuss the matter and to see if the village residents are in favour of the move.

"I don't think it's something that's going to be done in two weeks or two months," she said.

"As far as the police village is concerned, I would say it has accomplished a lot for the town," Weaver added.

Architects to take close look at Haliburton core, prepare report

A team of architects has agreed to take a detailed look at Haliburton's downtown area and prepare a report on its findings for council. The team will visit the village next spring under a program subsidized by the Ontario Association of Architects.

A representative of the association visited the village recently to determine if the community could benefit from the newly developed program. Council's request for the study was confirmed this week.

In a letter to the municipality, the association noted that the report of the architect who visited the village has been reviewed, "and while (the committee in charge of the program) believe(s) that Haliburton is very much on the right track as far as community planning is concerned, they would be interested in assisting" by com-

No increase in municipal mill rate

Minden sets '80 budget, taxes to rise 6 percent

Residential and commercial taxpayers in Anson, Hindon and Minden will face an increase of six and nine percent respectively, in their taxes this year, despite the fact that the municipal portion of the bill remains unchanged from 1979. A jump in the county and education levies accounts for the entire increase.

The mill rates were adopted last Wednesday night as council approved its 1980 budget.

Residential rates will increase by 24.521 mills, while commercial rates will rise by 41.587 mills. (A mill is one tax dollar per $1000 of assessment. An increase of one mill across the municipality raises $2,632.) Residential rates will vary from a high of 423.339 mills in area one to 380.839 in area five of the municipality. Commercial rates will vary from 492.753 in area one to 448.047 in area five. The municipal portion of the residential rate remains unchanged for 1980 at 125.478 mills, while the municipal portion of the commercial rate is also unchanged at 147.621 mills.

Total budget for 1980 is $1,576,589, up from $1,412,034 in 1979. Of the 1980 total, $869,164 is for municipal purposes, while $602,512 will go to the board of education and $104,913 is for county purposes.

For the most part, the budget closely follows the pattern of the 1979 budget, with only slight increases in expenditures in some areas.

Under the heading of general government, the budget shows a substantial increase, to $271,802 from $164,575 in 1979. However the bulk of that increase is the result of a 1979 surplus $79,644 which appears under a provision for working capital.

Council costs remain unchanged at $18,525. Administration costs have been set at $94,319, up from $76,263 in 1979. Along with slight increases in salaries and other expenses, the administration category also includes $6000 for election expenses which did not appear in the 1979 budget, as well as $2,915 for an involvement in municipal administration program.

Property expenses are also up, to $41,932 from $26,012 last year. Included in the 1980 budget is $20,000 for the new main street program.

Financial and other expenses are $117,026 compared to $43,700 last year. But

Salary levels to increase by 1.2 percent

Teachers COLA triggered

For the second time in two years, secondary school teachers in Haliburton County will receive a cost-of-living increase under the terms of a cost of living allowance (COLA) clause in their 1979-80 contract.

The clause calls for teachers to receive an increase in salary based on the percentage increase in the cost of living over the 12-month period ending May 1, 1980. According to Statistics Canada, the consumer price index rose 9.2 during those 12 months. The teachers COLA clause is "triggered" at eight percent, and is applied to all levels of the salary grid. Thus teachers will have an additional 1.2 percent added to their June paycheck, when they receive 16 percent of their annual salary.

A teacher earning $20,000 (the figure is for explanation purposes only, and is less than the average salary of the 37 high school teachers employed by the board) will receive 16 percent of the $240 increase called for under the COLA clause on their June paycheck, or an additional $38.40.

The 1.2 percent increase

Ordeal by fire:

Local MNR firefighting crews sent to the front lines to battle forest fires that threatened communities in Northern Ontario

by Sue Cooper

Fighting the raging fires in north-western Ontario is long, hard work. It involves working in unbelievably high temperatures and unpredictable conditions.

Ron MacKenzie, leader of a fire unit crew, has just returned with his crew to the Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) Minden District, last Wednesday.

This five-member crew has been fighting fires for 25 days, the longest time that Mackenzie has ever been sent away on fire duty.

MacKenzie, who has been involved with fire fighting over the past seven years, said Friday the most outstanding fire he saw up north was Wawa #2.

"It's the first time I've ever fought a forest fire when there was no forest," he said.

He explained that the fire was burning in an area of Wawa District that was mostly rock and grass, somewhat like the terrain around Sudbury. In this type of fire the ground has been covered with chemicals sometime in the past and even the rocks will burn.

"It can be very dangerous," MacKenzie said sometimes the fire could not be seen as it was burning a blue chemical flame instead of a yellow wood flame.

MacKenzie said the fire fighting duties were "very well organized" with a person in charge of every different phase of the operation.

The Minden fire unit was first notified that they would be heading north at 9:30 a.m. on May 4 and by 12:30 p.m. they were at Wawa awaiting orders.

'It's the first time I've fought a forest fire where there was no forest'

The crew was flown to Muskoka airport in a Cessna Citation, a twin engine jet that cruises at about 400 mph.

By 3 p.m. the crew was at the Wawa #2 fire which was burning about 500 acres when they arrived.

MacKenzie said every fire has a boss and that he supervises the entire operation. Minden crew was the fourth crew on the fire and was assigned a section of fire line around the perimeter of the fire.

A provincial fire team, made up of top ministry fire fighters from around the province, was also on site.

There are three main steps to fighting fires, MacKenzie said: the initial attack, which is very quick and strong, the suppression stage when the fire fighters get the fire surrounded and are controlling it, and the final mop up when a skeleton crew is left to make sure that all fire is out, even smoldering bits.

After being assigned a section of line, the crew set up its pump and started running hose in 100 foot sections. With one man handling the hose and another helping, the crew worked together trying to control the blaze a hundred feet at a time.

The men work together as a team and each one is trained to handle all the equipment efficiently. MacKenzie said that the pump runs continuously and when the men reach the end of the hundred

The figure includes the $79,744 surplus from 1979.

In the category of protection to persons and property, fire department costs are up slightly, to $36,825 from $29,763. By-law enforcement costs have been set at $27,897 up from $20,000. The budget includes $7,872 for the purchase of a new truck for use by the by-law officer.

Transportation services are down to $291,875 in the new budget, compared to a budgeted $337,734 in 1979. However, actual expenditures for transportation services in 1979 were $288,286.

Environmental services costs will almost triple for 1980, from $12,500 last year to $36,100 in the current budget. Main increase is for costs of maintaining the Scotch Line dump, from a budgeted $10,000 last year to $23,600 this year. A $10,000 transfer from capital funds for improvements to the dump site is also included under environmental services.

Health services costs are up slightly, to $57,355 from $53,010 last year.

Social and family services costs are also higher in this year's budget, at $33,400 compared to $25,500 in 1979.

In the category of recreational and cultural services, expenditures will total $176,455, up from $113,130 in 1979. Main increases are for salaries, repairs and maintenance, and a $36,500 transfer from capital funds for library construction and improvements to the ball diamond at Ingoldby. As well, the budget provides $8000 for the purchase of a new time clock, stage, septic system and steel doors for the arena.

Planning and zoning costs have been set at $3,300, up from $1400 last year. A total of $2,500 of that amount has been earmarked for work on the municipality's zoning by-law.

Board outlines policy on county council questions

Haliburton County council has been told in no uncertain terms that if it wants to criticize or question the Haliburton County Board of Education, it will have to do so at a regular or special meeting of the board.

The board's statement came in response to an April county council resolution which asked "the administration" of the board to attend the May county council meeting to "discuss the Dorset School situation relative to bussing and the budget in general."

At a meeting last Tuesday, the board passed a resolution noting that "since the policy of the board and decisions respecting all operations of the school system are made by elected trustees, it would be more appropriate if questions were directed to the board at a regular meeting or at a special meeting with council or its representatives."

As well, the board took issue with the fact that council had sought to question business administrator Jim Leworthy rather than the board as a whole.

"Employees of the board should not be placed in the position of defending or explaining board actions or policies," the board resolution stated. "Therefore the request that Mr. Leworthy attend council is regretfully denied."

A, H & M drops tax discount ratepayers will not pay 2%

Ratepayers in Anson, Hindon and Minden will no longer receive a two percent rebate on their municipal taxes if they pay them on time. But that doesn't mean ratepayers will be out the two percent. Instead, council has decided to collect the taxes the municipality requires, and to charge 1 1/4 percent interest per month for late payments.

The decision to discontinue the rebate system came at a meeting of council last Wednesday. The move reflects the practice common in most other municipalities around the county.

Total cost of the rebates has averaged $12,000 a year, money which must be raised from taxes to be given back to the taxpayers. The figure does not include the added administration costs associated with the rebate system.

Rebates have already been paid on this year's March 31 interim billing, but will not be paid on the July 1 final billings, resulting in a $6000 overall tax reduction this year.

Anson, Hindon and Minden council, at a meeting last Wednesday night, considered the following matters:

pleting a study of the central area.

The team of architects "while preparing its report, will want to have the opportunity of looking at the central area within the context of the entire community."

The study will be carried out "in the early spring of 1981."

The architects are expected to examine a number of problems facing the core area, including the need for improved parking and the possibility of developing a central theme for renovations to storefronts.

Mrs. E. Hall attended council with respect to the organized swimming program. Council agreed to provide a grant to the Minden Swim Program in the amount of $1,075 for the 1980 season.

Godfrey Saunders and Jim Garbutt of the Minden Curling Club were present to discuss the progress of the construction of the curling club.

Council decided it is in concurrence with the Minden Curling Club's proposal to call for tenders on behalf of the townships for the construction of the new multi-use building. Tenders are to close on June 24, 1980. Saunders was also given permission to dig test holes at the site, if necessary.

Council directed the clerk to prepare an amendment to By-law 1-64 of the Minden Water System to increase the water consumption rates for 1980 and future years.

The reeve and clerk were authorized to execute the Quit Claim deed to Godwin in part of Lot 2, Concession "A", Township of Anson.

The week of June 15 to 21 was proclaimed as Senior Citizens' Week.

In the matter of an application by the Minden Curling Club to Revenue Canada for a tax-free number, council confirmed that the new facility shall be a multi-purpose building for recreation purposes.

Helen Yake's wages were increased by .48 cents per hour effective June 2, 1980.

Council requested additional supplementary subsidy funds from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications in the amount of $33,800.

The Haliburton County Board of Education has renewed an agreement with Browndale under which the board supplies five teachers to instruct in Browndale schools.

The program, which is 100 percent funded by the Ministry of Education, is entering its sixth year. Besides meeting the salaries of the five teachers, the Ministry of Education also provides $1,450 per teacher for instructional aids.

will also be "folded" into the salary grid. A teacher earning $20,000 would thus be considered to earn $20,240 in his or her grid position for the purpose of salary negotiations toward next year's contract.

Last year, when the COLA clause was triggered for the first time, teachers received a 1.8 percent increase.

closed, following the 1980-81 year came in a letter considered at a meeting of the board last Tuesday.

In response, the board acknowledged the letter in a resolution stating that "when a decision is made (Sherborne, Livingstone and McClintock's) request will be considered in as much as it is consistent with Ministry of Education policy."

Under the terms of the Education Act, the board could sell the school building if it had no need for it, and if no other school board needed it for learning purposes.

The Act requires the board to offer first option on the building to a "publicly supported post-secondary institution." Second option goes to the municipality where the building is located. If neither of the two wanted it, the board would then have to offer it to a ministry of the government, and finally to any non-profit organization funded "in whole or in part on a continuing basis" by the provincial or federal government.

If none of the four bodies wanted the building, it could be sold by public tender.

Heavy rains hit Highlands

Severe thunderstorms which began Friday and continued through the weekend dumped a total of 61.6 mm of rain on the Haliburton Highlands. Several lightning strikes were observed in the area, but there were no reports of serious damage.

Highest temperature over the week was 25 C., while the lowest was 0 C.

Two unusual phenomena created some spectacular sunsets over the week. Glass particles in the upper atmosphere from the eruption of the Mt. St. Helen's volcano in Washington State created an aurora around the sun which was best observed between 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. and between 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. While the debris from the volcano will remain in the upper atmosphere for years to come, the main clouds of ash have now passed over the area.

Second factor which created unusual conditions was smoke from the huge forest fires in Northern Ontario, which was visible low on the horizon Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. It, too, resulted in brilliant sunsets.

MNR crews fight Northern Ont. fires foot hose it is clamped off, the nozzle is removed, another section of hose is attached, the nozzle is put on the end and the fire fighting continues.

By the time the fire was brought under control it had burned some 1,200 acres, MacKenzie said.

After four days at Wawa #2 the fire was UCO (under control) and the Minden fire crew moved on. A skeleton crew was left for mopping up.

MacKenzie said the skeleton crew just walks the fire area and puts out any remaining fires, even the smallest embers because if it didn't, chances are the ministry could have another fire on its hands.

Usually the skeleton crew smells the fire before they actually see it.

"After awhile you learn to smell the smoke," MacKenzie said a dead fire smells distinctively different than smoke.

In some forests, fires will burn down three feet into the ground. Apparently the roots will start burning and there is enough oxygen under the ground to allow the roots to smoulder. Although the moisture of the air and soil must be taken into

"They can start 10 fires along the tracks just bang, bang, bang and I've seen it," MacKenzie said.

The crew spent another day on red alert in Sioux Lookout District before being sent to Ignace District. Although it was the slow district in the region at the time, one fire was burning and the conditions were extreme.

After spending four days on red alert Ignace #12 started burning on the fifth day.

When it was reported, only one-tenth of an acre was burning. Three crews and a Canso water bomber were dispatched to the fire but by the time (within 15 minutes) Minden and the other two crews arrived the fire was already burning 50 acres.

Within a half hour the water bomber arrived and in four hours the crews had the fire under control at 70 acres.

MacKenzie said it was an extremely fast fire and the convection column was about 5,000 feet in the air. The convection column is created as the hot air rises above the flames. If the wind is strong, the account, sometimes the roots can smoulder for weeks.

The crew, who remained together throughout their travels except when they were occasionally borken up to work on the same fire, then moved on to Dryden #15.

When they arrived, another provincial fire team was looking after the 6,000 acre blaze. The crew spent six days fighting the fire. MacKenzie said the hours the men work depend completely on the fire.

"If it requires that you work from five in the morning to 10 at night, you work it," he said.

In the initial stages of the fire the crews usually work about 14-16 hours a day. When the fire boss feels comfortable with the fire and the crews have it mainly under control, MacKenzie said the working hours are shortened a little bit.

After Dryden #15 was under control, the crew went back to Dryden and spent two days on red alert. Two crews, one of which was Minden, were chosen to stay at Dryden as all of the district's crews were out at fires and the area had no men on site to send out if another fire broke out, MacKenzie said.

When the crews are on red alert the men must be in "immediate readiness" MacKenzie said. They keep busy by maintaining and repairing their equipment so it can be ready for use.

The next fire to be reported was Sioux Lookout #29 and the Minden crew was dispatched from Dryden by helicopter. The blaze was first reported to be four acres with two crews on the scene when Minden crew arrived. With the aid of two water bombers the three crews kept the fire at four acres within three days.

This fire and possibly #15 at Dryden were caused by man while the fire in Wawa was started by a train. MacKenzie said the rail lines are responsible for many fires because the wheels on the train are steel as well as the brakes. When the brakes are applied the steel becomes extremely hot and sometimes pieces of the brakeshoes fly off and start a fire.

column occasionally can be bent almost horizontal preheating the forest ahead of the fire and making the forest extremely flammable.

If the wind is strong, the fire can also jump lakes or travel one or two miles through the air. MacKenzie said the wind will pick up a piece of burning debris and carry it along until it drops, starting another fire.

But the wind can also help the situation as it did on Ignace #12. MacKenzie said the wind picked up and pushed the fire onto the edge of a lake. It then died down within a half an hour, allowing the men to get the blaze under control.

MacKenzie said the fires are very unpredictable.

"You have to be very alert all the time," he said. The crew then went back to Ignace for another four days on red alert. When it started to rain the crew was enroute to Dryden to be redispached to Kenora #23, the fire which forced the evacuation of many communities.

But when they arrived in Dryden, the staff decided some of the crews should be sent home for a brief period. Since the Minden crew had been on duty for 25 days they were sent home last Wednesday.

MacKenzie said the original intent was for the crew to remain at home for about a week but he said depending on the fire situation the leave could be shorter or longer.

When on the fire sites, MacKenzie said the crews set up "tent city" and do all their own cooking. The men arrive at the fire completely equipped with one tent per crew, lanterns, radio for communication, enough food for two days and each man has a personal pack. Included in their personal packs are, sleeping bag, air mattress, flashlight, extra batteries and one change of clothing.

MacKenzie emphasized that the fire fighting operations were well organized.

"With the number of people on every fire, if you didn't have everything organized, you'd have chaos."

We're tightening up on people who abuse Unemployment Insurance.

Most people getting unemployment insurance play by the rules. But some people don't seem to know that they can't take a job and collect benefits without telling us they're working. That's why employers are being asked to send us the starting date and Social Insurance Number or extracts from computer payroll tapes for each employee they hire or rehire. This information is cross-checked with the Social Insurance Numbers of people receiving unemployment insurance benefits. Only cases of potential abuse will ever surface. After investigation, anyone found receiving benefits to which they are not entitled will have to repay them. It may be an honest mistake. Some people forget or don't understand they must tell Unemployment Insurance and report their total earnings when they start

Ontario's environment minister Harry Parrott has dealt the people of Haliburton County a backhanded insult. Three weeks ago, the minister made public a new draft control order on abating sulphur emissions from the International Nickel Company's smelters at Sudbury. The order sets a limit of 2,500 tons per day on the emissions which spew out of the company's super stack. In making the announcement, the minister said he would hold a public meeting in Sudbury to discuss the order before it was made binding on the company. Later, whether of his own volition or under pressure from the opposition benches, the minister said he would also hold a public meeting on the order in Muskoka.

If the government's latest plan to limit INCO's emissions has failed to generate much optimism about the province's commitment to dealing with the acid rain problem at the source rather than in the field, its attitude toward Haliburton County, as reflected in the minister's decision about where a public meeting should be held, should generate nothing but contempt.

The minister's decision to meet with Muskoka residents may be linked to the findings of an as yet unpublished report prepared by the atmospheric environment services branch of the federal Department of the Environment. In a press conference last Monday, Liberal leader Stuart Smith told reporters the study concludes that up to 40 percent of the acidic precipitation falling on Muskoka can be traced to INCO's stack. If the findings prove true, they will call into question the provincial ministry's contention that INCO is not a "significant" source of the sulphur dioxide emissions that create acidic precipitation in Haliburton and Muskoka.

If the minister wants to discuss his latest moves toward INCO with the people of Muskoka, that is not cause for quarrel. But if the minister chooses to ignore the fact that Haliburton County is every bit as vulnerable to INCO's emissions as is its neighbour to the west, he should be forcefully reminded of it by local councils and county council.

The people of Haliburton County have a right to hear what the minister has to say about his latest "get tough with INCO" policy. After all, the rain that falls here is every bit as tinged with acidity as is the rain that falls over Muskoka, and the sources of that rain stretch far beyond county and regional boundaries.

A public meeting would give the people of this area a chance to find out exactly how the minister plans to deal with industrial pollution that threatens many county lakes. It might also serve to remind Parrott that the ministry's Acid Precipitation in Ontario study, its key program to gather knowledge about the effects of acid rain, is based not in Muskoka but in Haliburton County.

The watchdogs

Once, and perhaps for all, Haliburton County council has been told that it should change its attitude toward the Haliburton County Board of Education. Each year, at about the time the board sets its budget, the rumbling among county politicians about overspending and irresponsibility around the purse strings begins to be heard. The basis of municipal politicians' concern can be traced to the fact that the board raises more than half of its funds through local taxation. But the taxes are not separate from those which must be raised by the municipalities, even though a breakdown of the mill rates for education, county and municipal purposes is included in municipal budgets and on tax bills. County council's apparent distress with rising education costs stems less from politicians' concern about the burden those costs place on taxpayers than from a realization that most taxpayers don't pay much attention to the mill rate breakdown. Thus a municipal council may try as hard as it can to hold the line by cutting spending programs, and yet its ratepayers will still face a tax increase because of increased education costs, about which there is little or nothing that can be done.

Each year the rumbling rises to a minor crescendo, and can be heard either as a request for a board official to explain to county council the alleged extravagance of the board's way, or as a resolution from one corner of the province or another calling for board budgets to be subjected to county council scrutiny.

This year, the board has decided to take action against the rumblings. To a county council request that business administrator Jim Leworthy face a verbal firing squad over education spending, the board has sent a curt reply. If county council wants to question the actions of the board, which is, like council, made up of elected representatives of the people, it is free to attend a meeting of the board. And local politicians have also been told that employees of the board should not be required to defend board policy before councils.

The public should welcome the board's move. By assuming that it is somehow more responsible with the public's money than that it is somehow more responsible with the public's money than is the board of education, county council has been insulting not only board members, but the public who elected them.

Well, here I am back on one of my favourite topics and that is this problem of littering. It's one of those problems that seems to go on and on and let's face it, we as citizens are the only people who can do something to remedy it. Here in the Highlands of Haliburton we are blessed with beautiful lakes, rivers, streams, forests and beautiful countryside. The big question that should be on everyone's mind is how long are we going to keep it this way. It's up to all of us to decide whether we want to keep it beautiful or throw litter all over the place and end up making it look like a real mess. How easy it is for all of us to throw papers, boxes and such items on the streets and roads or in the bush when in most cases litter containers are just a few steps away. Just this past week I noticed that some person or persons had apparently dumped off their garbage along side the road before they even came close to reaching the village dump in Haliburton. Instead of keeping the grounds clean around the beach areas it seems to be the site for irresponsible people to throw out their cigarette butts, papers, beer bottles, pop cans and what have you. I even notice at the tennis courts in Haliburton, litter is strewn around inside the fence instead of people putting it in their pockets and taking it to a litter container. How often do we see garbage that should be taken to the dump stuffed into litter containers or thrown beside the highway to be scattered around all over the countryside. How long, we ask, can this go on before we are faced with real big pollution problems. Here in this county each municipality has its own garbage disposal dumps and these are the places to put your garbage, not along the highways or in litter containers. Take it to the dump. It is high time that the offenders were caught and brought up before the courts and shown that this is the wrong way to do things. The Ontario government are constantly reminding us to keep Ontario beautiful. Well, it is just about time we started to clear up this matter right in our own back yards.

Who was it that said that there's no fish here in the Highlands of Haliburton? Just last week we were talking to one of the more ardent fishermen in the Minden area and he was telling me that there has been good reports on the excellent luck that fishermen were having who were fishing at Twelve Mile Lake and Boshkung Lake.

If you happened to wonder what the weather was like in May of 1979 we wish to report that warm days were far and few between; it was cool most of the time with more rain than usual for May.

We would like to correct an error we made in the caption under last week's Pic of the Past. In the photo of the Haliburton Women's Institute we stated that the woman on the left was Mrs. Jack Robertson. It should have read Mrs. Jim Robertson.

Some of the local business men around the county have been telling me that business this spring just doesn't seem to be up to par. In other words, it doesn't seem to be breaking any records. Over the Victoria Day holiday weekend consensus seems to be that there were as many people as a year ago on the same weekend but that they weren't spending the money that they have in previous years. In conversation with many of the local contractors they tell me that they don't have the work ahead of them that they had in other years. What lies ahead this summer? Well, your guess is as good as mine.

I wonder if there was ever a time in our history when we could all stand to enjoy a good laugh once in awhile. One man that has been able to deliver us these laughs up through the years has been America's number one comedian, none other than Bob Hope. I don't know about you, but he has to be one of my favourite comedians. Everytime I hear him give one of his favourite monologues he breaks me up. He must be blessed with some great writers and with a great sense of humour. I can't recall ever hearing him in action when one could say that he was poor or dull. He's always on the ball bringing the house down wherever and whenever he performs. Hope celebrated his 77th birthday last Thursday. According to a write-up in a recent issue of the Toronto Star he said that he's slowing down. We wonder what he means by slowing down when he has already booked seven dates in November! He also touched on another matter that could explain his defiance of age: Laughter. Bob Hope also had this to say. "You know how you go to a party and you hear laughs coming from a corner of the room. That's the place you head for, because you know you're going to feel better. I love to hear the latest jokes. I'm on the phone a couple of hours a night, talking to all my writers, to comics all over the country."

Canvassers for the Canadian Cancer Society in Haliburton and surrounding communities surpassed the $3,000 mark through the generosity and donations of the people in this area. The communities of Donald, Eagle Lake, Haliburton, Haliburton Lake, Harcourt, Lochlin, Tory Hill and West Guilford raised $3,084.05 for the Society. An amount of $206.75 was collected in Wilberforce and $209.50 was collected in Gooderham. A big thank you to all the canvassers in each community for a job well done.

Among the many events coming up will be a fashion show at the H.H.S.S. (tonight) Wednesday, June 4 at 8:00 p.m. Victoria Street School will be holding their annual fun night this Friday evening, June 6 and hot dogs will be on sale at 6:30 p.m. and the doors will open at 7:00 p.m. The Haliburton Figure Skating Club will be holding a rummage and bake sale this Saturday, June 7 on the main street, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. St. George's annual parish family picnic will be held at Halimar this Sunday, June 8 starting at 2 p.m. All welcome and please bring dinner and dessert.

Here's a definition of summer - That time of the year when the highway authorities close the regular roads and open up the detours.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

To the Editor:

Len Pizze's summary of the Quebec situation last week in the "Editor's Notebook" was one of the few clear, sensitive, realistic descriptions of a Canadian situation which has had us all confused in the last months.

We have, as he says, a second chance to find a solution which will be satisfactory to the Quebecois and will keep that valuable French culture intact in Canada. Those who have had an opportunity to live in Quebec understand their important contribution to Canada. I hope the rest of us can see this as clearly in the future.

Catherine Denholm,
Eagle Lake, Ont.

To the Editor:

We note an article on Page 6 of the May 21, 1980 issue of The Minden Times in which a councillor Bill Valentine of Lutterworth mentions the Executive Director Bert Shingler of the Federation of Ontario Cottagers Associations Inc. of telling a lie, in fact "floating a deliberate lie". Mr. Shingler was referring to Ministry of Natural Resources' charge of $250 flat rate for closing the 66' shoreline allowance on Crown Land. To quote Mr. Shingler's letter: "In unorganized territories where the Ministry still has control, the 66' Crown Reserve is being decided to the abutting owner for $250..." "We would hope that the organized municipalities would follow suit ..." and a simplified procedure was suggested.

The $250 fee has been established by the Ministry of Natural Resources to cover administrative costs and can be verified by contacting that source.

We are well aware that there will be cases where some shoreline allowances cannot be closed for valid reasons, but in the great majority of cases there should be no problem.

It is recognized that a prospective shoreline allowance purchaser may require a surveyor and legal assistance. Each case must be assessed on its own merits.

It is further recognized that the current long drawn out procedures need simplifying and streamlining and are aggravating to the cottagers of Ontario and no doubt to the municipalities as well. Existing procedures are out of step with the current situation and need updating.

Simplified procedures should therefore be laid down by the Ministry of Housing which should be similar to and coincide with the current policy of the Ministry of Natural Resources.

It is the plan therefore of the federation to work with the ministries concerned towards this end.

We will keep you posted.

In the meantime, a public apology from Councillor Bill Valentine will be accepted.

J.G. Strickland,
The Federation of Ontario
Cottagers Associations Inc.

EDITOR'S NOTEBOOK

by Len Pizze

If there are two things I've learned about editing a community newspaper in the three years I've been doing it, they could be summarized as follows: You should always tell the truth as you see it, without fear of who'll disagree, and where the well meaning efforts of a community group are involved, it may pay to say nothing at all.

Some people might say that's a kind of "cop out", and I wouldn't disagree. I would only reply that where the truth will do no good, there's no need to risk offending those who may see things differently.

To cite an example, I was asked by a member of the cast of the Highlands Little Theatre to review the play they staged last week at Haliburton's secondary school. But you won't find that review in the paper. And it's not because I don't like to do reviews. On the contrary, I did a number of them while I was working for the "Review" in Peterborough and enjoyed the experience thoroughly. No, the reason there is no review of the play is that the audience appeared to enjoy it, and I did not.

I have no criticism of the acting. Virtually every member of the cast did a creditable job, and on the whole, they seemed to work well together.

But the production suffered from two glaring shortcomings. The first was that the script was simply poor, a collection of tired cliches and one liners that raised a chuckle here and there, but that lacked enough substance to make the actors' efforts worthwhile. And the second was that the pacing was entirely too slow, hindered by late entrances and an annoying tendency on the part of some of the players to drag out lines that should have been delivered rapid fire.

The actors are not to blame for the choice of play. But I couldn't help wondering if somewhere in the back of the group's mind was the assumption that as vacuous and poorly written a play as "The Creature Creeps", is all the audiences of Haliburton County could handle. If so, it was an assumption that deserves to be disproven.

Countless entertaining, lighthearted plays can be found in any drama catalogue, and many of them are not beyond the scope of amateur actors willing to work hard at their roles.

The Highlands Little Theatre has made a good start. Next year it should reward its audience with a play that has some substance.

There is no doubt in our minds that many of you senior citizens out there will recall this photo of the famous Frank's Cafe and Hotel which at one time was the favourite meeting place in Haliburton. There were many stories told about this building and whenever old-time residents of Haliburton get together you can usually depend on hearing a story or two about Frank's Hotel. The building was torn down years ago and the Red and White parking lot is now on this site. Our thanks to Bob Brohm of Haliburton for giving us permission to use this photo which was taken in the early 1900's.

Report from Queen's Park

by MPP John Eakins

Acid Rain

The Provincial Government has been overly lax in its restriction of the pollution of the atmosphere by Inco Ltd., according to Liberal Leader Stuart Smith.

He stressed the fact that sulphur dioxide emission's from the company's Sudbury operation are a major cause of the acid rain problem in the Muskoka-Haliburton region, and claimed that Inco could cut its emissions from the present 2,600 tons per day to 1,000 tons per day through the purchase of new smelting equipment.

"Inco will be playing a large role in killing tourism in Haliburton and Muskoka if its emissions are not further reduced," he said, and called upon the Government to draft a "proper" plan.

Current Government draft legislation would only limit Inco to 1,950 tons per day by 1983.

Acid rain has already rendered 140 Ontario lakes unable to support aquatic life, and some 48,500 are in danger of being affected.

Aluminum Wire Fire Hazard

The Opposition has called for an all-out effort to inform the public of the dangers of faulty home push-in electrical outlets with aluminum wiring, because there is some evidence that loose connections could be fire hazards.

Connections within the outlets become loose, requiring periodic maintenance, and an Ontario Housing Corp. spokesman has stated that the company has been inspecting housing units for the past 18 months.

The manager of the Ministry of Housing's research and development section says Government officials have moved slowly despite the immediate dangers from the faulty wiring, because the whole aluminum wiring system is open to question, although virtually nothing has been done to date.

Ontario Exodus

Thousands of people, many of them skilled workers, are leaving Ontario for the western provinces.

Some 17,000 people who have recently moved to Ontario from Quebec do not make up for the 27,000 who have moved west, mostly to Alberta and British Columbia.

However, Premier William Davis denied in the Legislature that the situation was serious, or that it could be interpreted as a sign of dissatisfaction with his Government. He stated that such popular mobility was "in the national interest." The fact remains, they are leaving Ontario.

Intended for last week

On May 7 I took part in the debate on Confederation in the Ontario Legislature. I felt very proud to take part as your representative, and if anyone would like a copy of my remarks, please contact my constituency office.

This was probably the first time in recent history that a week was set aside to debate a particular issue, and of course this was a most important one. The three separate and distinct parties of this parliament had the courage and the will to set aside our partisanship and rise above our differences in our own province, to make a united and a strong and vigorous appeal to the residents of Quebec.

I said during the debate that if there has ever been a reason why we should set aside our concerns for our own political careers, our own futures, it is for this reason: Canada as a united nation is more important than any party in political office. It is the cause we must concern ourselves with now above every other cause.

The crisis of Confederation is not merely a

It's bewildering when you think of the number of things that can break up a marriage that began in heaven and ends up in the other place.

Sexual or emotional incompatibility, disparity of interests, rotten kids, desertion, booze, insanity, to name just a few of the serious ones.

Then you work your way down to the aspects that seem trivial on the surface, but can be just as rending over the grind as the big ones.

Stuff like halitosis, dandruff, body odour, nose picking, digging wax from ears or jam from toes, and similar physical foibles.

And then there are the basic differences in genes that shatter many a case of connubial bliss. Some people are yawning until the tears spurt at 9:20 p.m., and are wedded to other people who just begin to hit on all cylinders about the time the late movies begin.

That's bad enough. But the former are the type who leap out of bed at six a.m., carolling: "Here hath been dawning another new day; think, wilt thou let it slip uselessly away?" And the latter have to be dragged out of bed at the crack of noon with a block and tackle. Not much chance for them.

Then there are the poor devils who put on a pound just by reading a menu, and bitterly resent their mates, who can shovel in the chocolates, pastry, whipped cream and beer, and go around remarking blithely, and smugly, "I have to eat like a horse to stay even." Grounds for a hatchet murder.

Some people, mostly men, look forty when they are married, and still look forty when they are sixty. Others, mostly women, look sixteen when they are married, and sixty when they are forty. This can lead to a certain amount of savagery.

And there is plain old body temperature. Some like it hot; some like it cool. Thus we find running battles as bedroom windows are thrown wide or slammed down; as the thermostat is viciously wrenched up to 80, and the moment the back is turned, is triumphantly twisted back to 60.

Another of the fractious items in the constant domestic skirmishing is the question of who does the most work. A man, let's say a barber, bleats that he's been on his feet all day, and they're killing him. His erstwhile soul-mate reports that she's been on her knees all day, and she'll kill him if he doesn't get out and mow the lawn.

In the same vein, an executive will reel in from work, collapse in a chair after mixing a triple martini, and go into a recitation about the overwhelming stress he's under: a fight with the boss; a client lost; inefficient underlings.

And his "darling", "sugar", or "hon" of thirty years ago will come back like a tigress with her stress: the phone rang thirteen times today; she had a fight with the plumbers; the new drapes don't match anything except puke; she had to take the new car to a garage because some turkey creased her, to the tune of $300, in a parking lot.

Heck, I could go on for an hour, listing reasons that people first begin to get on each other's nerves, proceed to smoldering dislike, and end up in a glorious blaze of pure hatred. And I'm sure every one of you gentle readers could add to the list.

I'll do a thirty-thousand word thesis on it someday. But for now I'd like to add just one item to the list that is seldom mentioned by either sociology professors or Ann Landers.

This cause of fractured marriage is too much togetherness. When a married couple spend too much time together, they not only begin looking alike, but talking alike, thinking alike and all the other alikes.

As a result, they become two-headed calves, Siamese twins, freak vegetables with two carrots growing from one seed. Repeating the same old things, bickering about the same trivial things, chewing their cabbage twice, they lose their individuality, and become both boring and bored.

They are nearing the end when they start calling each other "Mother" and "Dad", and can spend half an hour patiently disagreeing over a third-rate TV show.

This was no great vision on the road to Damascus. It came to me when my wife went off for a few days in the city and I was alone, all alone, on a sea of beautiful privacy.

Nobody saying, "Lights out, dear, you have to work tomorrow," at midnight just when I'm getting into the guts of a novel. I know I have to work tomorrow. Two nights she was away, I read until six a.m.

Nobody telling me what a day she'd had, when I'd had a worse one. And vice versa. She thought I'd eaten the cooked ham she left me. I fed it to the squirrels and ate a lasagna that almost killed me.

Hospitality Seminars

With our major tourist season just around the corner the Chamber has been able to secure two dates for Hospitality Seminars just in time to get you and your staff on your toes for the months ahead. These seminars are similar to the ones presented by the Ministry of Industry and Tourism last year under the "We Treat You Royally" campaign. They run a full day and the only cost is $3.50 for lunch. Anyone dealing with the public should attend and will certainly benefit through not only lectures but acting out various situations that may occur in their job.

Last year we offered five separate seminars while this year there will be only two. No more than 30 can be accommodated at either session so we therefore ask you to register in advance by calling the Chamber office at 286-1760 to be assured of being allowed to participate.

The first seminar will be held at Mr. Fogg's in "downtown" Carnarvon on Tuesday, June 24 from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Wig-a-mog Inn will host the second one on Wednesday, June 25th. Don't put it off - reserve a spot for you and your staff today.

Stanhope Air Show

Once again the Stanhope Airport Committee have outdone themselves in arranging an excellent show on Sunday, June 15th starting off with a giant Beef Barbeque at 11:00 a.m. Exciting performances by the Canadian Forces Voo Doos, Toronto Parachute Club, glider pilots and the Canadian War Plane Heritage will highlight an afternoon of continuous action. Programs with specific details are available at the Chamber office for further information. Spectators are also welcome to drop in on Saturday, June 14 to watch rehearsals taking place for Sunday's features.

Kinsmen Home Show

Pat Kennedy tells us there are still a number of booths available for the Kinsmen Home and Cottage Show, at the Haliburton Arena and Curling Rink for June 20, 21 and 22. This annual event has proven to be a real winner since it began and provides an excellent opportunity for business men throughout the area to meet the public and present their story.

The Chamber enthusiastically supports the efforts of the Kinsmen with this event, since it helps to keep expenditures for building and improvements within the county. To continue to be successful it will, however, require the support of those it has intended to help.

Topo Map Price Increase

The Chamber has for several years carried an assortment of topographical maps covering Haliburton County. These maps have retailed for $1.50 each, but we have now received notice that effective immediately that price is increased to $2.50. Since we have some maps in stock we will hold the old price of $1.50 until June 15th, following which the increase will take effect. If you have been thinking about purchasing maps may we suggest you do so now while the price is right!

New Infor Centre

The Central Ontario Travel Association (C.O.T.A.) is sponsoring a new Travel Information Centre this summer at Orono, on Highway #115 and #35 just north of Newcastle. Travel counsellors will be on duty there seven days a week and will dispense literature from The Ministry of Industry and Tourism, C.O.T.A. and all its member organizations such as ourselves.

In addition they will carry any brochures provided from other individuals who are willing to pay a $20.00 rack fee to assist the cost of operating

HHSS archers take COSSA second

Four archers from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School took second place in co-ed team competition at a COSSA tournament in Whitby last Thursday. It was the first time a co-ed archery team from the school has advanced to the COSSA level.

The team of Laura Manser, Joanne Emmerson, Mitchell Stephen and Mark Thayer. All four archers came up with an excellent effort in the face of stiff competition, and by the end of the first round, they were in the lead, 100 points ahead of I.E. Weldon. The Weldon team pulled it together in the second round however, and regained the lost ground to beat Haliburton by just 28 points. The third place team trailed Haliburton by 660 points.

All of the Haliburton archers racked up scores better than they had put together in their limited practice time at the shorter distances and smaller targets used in placed seventh out of 22 boys with a score 100 points greater than the rest of his team mates.

Minden Hustlers are on strong winning streak

The Minden hustlers are on a strong winning streak as they tallied up another two wins in the tri-county men's fastball league last week. Last Wednesday the Hustlers beat Fenelon Falls 11 - 3 in Minden. Bernie Nicholls and John Welch both hit home runs for the hometown. Jack Snell pitched the win.

On Monday the two teams met again, this time in Fenelon Falls. The Hustlers blanked the home team 2 - 0. Jack Snell was the winning pitcher.

HHSES has fun

Here the students are pulled and stretched in all directions as they try to hold a human chain together.

The students at Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School had a super time at their Fun Day last Friday. The day's events included zany athletic games and agility tests.

Minden racquet club plans year's activities

The newly formed Minden Racquet Club has elected its officers and is now planning year round activities.

Some 15 interested people came out to a meeting a week ago last Tuesday to form the club. Heading up the executive will be president Jeff Lodenquai, vice president Terry Smith, Bruna Foran, secretary-treasurer and badminton captain, Paul Prentice, tennis captain and Alex Dolensky, ping pong captain.

The aim of the club is to get all the people who are interested in racquet sports together under an umbrella organization.

Activities already scheduled include badminton which has been actively played for the past three years at Archie Stouffer Public School in Minden. The schedule offers the gymnasium to adults on Mondays at 7:30 and to Juniors on Thursday at 7:30.

Badminton will be played from September through June. Tennis activities will be scheduled throughout the summer at the tennis courts at the community centre in Minden.

Ping pong, which is a new addition to the community's recreational program, will be run on a test basis at Hyland Crest Senior Citizens home September through June. Playing times will be announced.

Lodenquai said Monday the club would appreciate if anyone owning a folding ping pong table would consider lending it to the club.

He said the club did not wish to purchase tables until they know if the game will be popular. Four tables would be needed for the program.

Registration forms will be available at the Minden Medical Clinic in mid-June. Registration fees will be $2 per year for adults and $1 per year for Juniors, 18 and under.

Hatkoski goes all the way to the Ontario field finals

Mike Hatkoski will be representing Haliburton Highlands Secondary School in the All-Ontario championship track and field meet at Centennial Stadium in Etobicoke, this Saturday.

Hatkoski, who competed in both junior boys javelin and pole vault events at the Eastern Regional finals last Saturday in Trenton, qualified in the javelin competition. He got in under the wire as he placed fifth in the javelin throw.

Also competing in the eastern finals but not qualifying for All-Ontario were Signe Tashlin in the midjet girls long jump, Butch Manary in junior boys discus, Tim Davies in the senior boys pole vault and Margie Newton in the junior girls high jump.

WMHA backs former executive

Wilberforce minor hockey association elected its new executive for the upcoming season last Friday night at the community centre.

Most of the executive will be remaining the same as last year with a few new additions to the board of directors. Acting as president will be

Glen Storey. First vice-president is Ken Hopwood; second vice-president, Chuck Irvine; secretary, Gerry Waugh; treasurer, George Waugh; ways and means chairman, Pearl Foster, and the board of directors, Bob Anderson, Gary Stoughton, Karen Scott, Philip Billings and Don Meharrie.

Tenders close June 24

Minden curling club finalizes plan

The Minden curling club has finalized a floor plan for its proposed new facility, and has called for tenders for the design, engineering and construction of the building.

Tenders will close June 24.

The tender call comes following confirmation from the Ministry of Culture and Recreation that the project will be eligible for wintario funding.

Building committee members Godfrey Saunders and Jim Garbutt sought approval for the tender call at a meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden council last Wednesday night.

Council also agreed a backhoe could be used for soil testing at the site adjacent to the community centre and arena provided any holes were filled in again.

On the matter of the former curling club building, which was condemned for winter use because it could not meet snowload standards set down by the Ministry of Labour, reeve Sinc Nesbitt asked

Saunders, who is an engineer to examine the structure and outline how the roof could be strengthened.

Saunders agreed, but noted that the old building is continually deteriorating and that repairs could be costly. The former curling club building is considered safe for summer use.

OPP report

The Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police report the following activity for the period of May 26 to June 1, 1980. During this period the staff investigated seven reportable and one non-reportable motor vehicle collision as well as 72 general occurrences.

There were five break-ins reported, three businesses found insecure, one compassionate message delivered and one person charged with a liquor violation.

Road workers ask A,H,&M for money

Road workers in Anson, Hindon and Minden who volunteered to take a week off without pay when the municipality ran out of maintenance funds last fall will not be paid for that week now that the municipality has a new road budget.

At a meeting of council last Wednesday, road supervisor Earl Kent said the road workers wanted to know if council would consider paying them for the week they were without work.

Reeve Sinc Nesbitt replied that while council "appreciated the support" the men showed last fall, there was in fact, no maintenance money left in the budget when the men went off the job.

"It's a fact that if we hadn't been able to swing the transfers (from construction funds to maintenance, with the approval of the MTC) we wouldn't have had the money," Nesbitt said.

Council appeared to support the reeve's stand, and there was no formal action on the matter.

Board hires new teacher for technical instruction

The Haliburton County Board of Education has hired a new technical teacher, bringing to five the number of teachers instructing in the technical department at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Robert Jackson was hired last Wednesday night at a meeting of the board.

Jackson has a Bachelor of Technology degree from Ryerson Polytechnical Institute in Toronto, a type 'A' teaching certificate in electricity, and type 'B' supplements in mechanical drafting, auto mechanics, woodworking and machine shop.

He has ten years experience with the Scarborough Board of Education and has spent a year teaching in Frobenier Bay.

He is married with three children, ages 7, 5 and 2.

The need for a new teacher resulted from a board decision to reduce the number of credits in any one shop course from three to two.

The move made it possible for more students in academic programs to choose a shop option, and resulted in an increase in enrolment in technical courses.

OPP continue search for teens

The search is continuing for two people who are missing and presumed to have drowned in Horseshoe Lake.

Missing since May 18 are Daniel Bliss, 20 of Scarborough, and Tricia Brans, 19 of West Hill.

In the past week, the OPP skiff has been checking the lake for any sign of the missing pair and last Friday an OPP helicopter checked the lake and shoreline as well and checking Gull Lake for the body of a snowmobiler whose machine plunged through open water last winter.

No traces of the missing people were found.

A coroner's inquest into the snowmobile accident will be held at the Minden municipal building on Wednesday June 18. Coroner is Dr. Blair Pierce of Haliburton.

A Pioneer of the Tourist Industry

It has been two years, but it seems like only yesterday that we talked in this column of the passing of Merv Robertson, who along with his wife Alice, were among the pioneers of the tourist industry in Haliburton County. While operating Wig-a-mog Inn they established many sound friendships not only here amidst their community, but throughout the industry among their colleagues. Now as a result of a tragic automobile accident Alice has passed away also. She will be sadly missed by all of those friends. Certainly all of us who were fortunate enough to be acquainted with them both would agree that we are a little better off for having known them. Our sincere sympathy goes out to Keith and Julie and the other members of the family.

Extending News

by Dr. W. O. Anderson

Monday's cool snap is a reminder not to put seedlings out until at least June 1 in Haliburton. Of course, not all species will be damaged by frost; as an example there is the pansy, a very beautiful but tough plant, or the alyssum, or dandelion, one of the cheries.

Park Street is looking better day by day and year by year. The property owners (taxpayers) not liking the status quo put themselves out, sometimes at great expense to upgrade their landscapes and homes, making the overall blend along the street quite attractive. Even Dysart et al add their touch.

There is a supplementary bazaar coming up and with that in mind our ladies once again Tuesday took to baking for it - Hazel Parish, Flossie Burk, Ada Denholm, Maude Weston, Lottie Woodcock, Elizabeth McIntosh, Noreen Stevens and Lila Simmons. The product was date loaves and carrot bread and they looked sumptuous.

Back to Monday morning a little belated, Charlie Welch, our country store keeper and a resident of over three years simply decided to up and leave. He was exceptionally well liked, enjoyed his euche and will be greatly missed, especially as a bingo caller.

This Tuesday's bingo had besides Ray Smith as caller, some newcomers as helpers as you will see from the roster of this week - Gretta Kellert, Bernice Ross and Velma Springer, Pat Burk, overall supervisor.

The forest fires in north western Ontario and on the northern prairies represent a great tragedy even if so far there is no loss of life. Someone was telling us that in Europe and other regions of the globe, the forests are tidily groomed seemingly making for a lower fire hazard. It would interest us greatly if someone would confirm or deny such an assertion.

Forest fire hazard now is so great that private ownership of large tracts is pretty much no more. Can there be a clandestine activity behind these present ones? But even so, little can be done.

We welcome a new resident among us, Garnet Kellert of Kilmount. Everyone must do what you can to make him feel at home.

The job of dressing the lawn furniture is almost done. We see Harold McKelvey putting the finishing touches to the shuffleboard benches, really doing a top-rate job of it.

Norman Titus has finished mowing the lawn again quite a big task but if we soon do not get rain the grass will not grow. Bob Berry, Edward Thorlakson, Andrew Curry, Ray Smith and Lila Simmons worked steadily Wednesday afternoon on finishing more picture plaques, guided by Charlie Stomer.

Nancy Picard and Peggy Neville entertained us Wednesday evening for a full hour going over most of the old time melodies that we never tire of. These two young ladies are delightful entertainers.

June 1 and after, it is our intention to put out all the plants and taking any risk of frost. There are a lot of them but we have a lot of room. When we see the bright cheerfulness of this coming summer we will all feel that the work we have done has been well worthwhile.

Thursday afternoon was pot luck dinner time with the Haliburton Senior citizens with a club turnout of 96. Emil Nieman, the affable club president, was not long in taking the many diners in tow, directing traffic, calling for a minute silence in remembrance of a recently deceased senior, Alice Robertson and asking Ken Stewart to say grace. Like other times the dinner was sumptuous and in plentiful supply. It is an exceptionally cheerful gathering, and what appetites these seniors display.

In the midst of these disastrous forest fires across Canada it may be timely to utter a Job's thought. The famed "tree" man from New Zealand on a TV interview Wednesday night, observed that it takes the oxygen produced by 32 acres of green forest to fuel an airliner for take-off. Hydrocarbons are not the only fuel component of air travel and the motor car mad rat race hither and yon and there is no indication of a return to sanity.

Most of our seedlings are out, filling the patio planter, the two south wall beds and most of the beds at the front. For some reason the petunias were disappointing, the nasturtiums are plentiful, not many alyssum or pansies but we will have enough. We are late getting started on that muskmelon bed, possibly there will be none though the seedlings are ready. It may be our enthusiasm got the best of us making it sound too far fetched. Anyway, if not this year, maybe next.

We have had reason to be interested in what we may call "grass roots" inflation, a type of inflation that is here everywhere with no hope of a halt. A Peterborough retailer sells an item of goods agreeing to make delivery. Transportation from Peterborough costs 10 percent, then transportation from Haliburton to its delivery point costs another 10 percent. In the days of the rail and local horse delivery it was 2 1/2 percent respectively. We can live with it, but we must expect that the cost of items bought out of town will keep going up and up.

Two films were shown Friday afternoon. 1. A film showing "Indian" folk lore and their great faith in it. 2. The three Canada parks north of 60 degrees (Haliburton is on 45 degrees). These parks, Kluane, Nahanni, and Baffin Island represent superb Grandeur but only really accessible to a very privileged few. We must be content that our favourite cinematographer has access so we can see it as near as possible as he sees it.

Jim Cooper of the Gideons International in Canada conducted the devotional period Friday morning with Isabella Gibbs at the piano to accompany us in our singing. The theme was taken from Paul's letters to the Christian Corinthians, Book 1, Ch. 15, in which he pointed out the utter logic of Christ's visit to earth, the logic of his teaching and the logic of the sequel: "You must believe, otherwise you are false" or to use the vernacular, "fish or cut bait". That is the rock foundation of Christianity.

Springtime is a busy time of the year at Hyland Crest. The maintenance staff are working hard preparing the flower beds and the water fountain is now working. Our goldfish have wintered well and are now outside in the pond. I see we have one more than we did last year.

Monday we had a good time at fun and fitness. We welcomed Mrs. Finnie Jenkins to our group. It is nice to have Finnie with us and we hope she will enjoy her new home. Later in the afternoon several ladies went downstairs to work on their crafts. Last week, I mentioned that we have a new volunteer on Monday afternoon. Her real name is Kathy Gartshore. Rev. Rick Brewster, of the Allsaw Mission held an inspiring service in the chapel on Tuesday morning. Agnes Taylor played the organ for us while we sang some gospel hymns.

Wednesday morning we welcomed our activities director, Doris Robertson back after a week's absence. Doris had minor surgery, but is feeling much better now and we're happy to have her back.

Thursday afternoon, the ladies of Geleert brought an assortment of sandwiches and homemade goodies for the birthday tea. They presented our guests of honor

Church choirs to join under direction of Marina Pearsell

The choir of St. George's Anglican Church, directed by Bill Giddon, will be joined on Friday evening, June 13, by the recently formed choir of young people from St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church, under the direction of Marina Pearsell. The concert, to which all are invited, will take place at 8 p.m. at St. George's Church, and will feature Craig Thompson on trumpet. This talented young trumpet player, who is a regular welcome addition to the liturgical music of both the Haliburton United Church and St. George's, is the United Church's contribution to the music of this ecumenical event. A limited number of tickets for the concert are available from the churches mentioned. The proceeds will go to St. Anthony's Building Fund.

Harcourt Chapel Happenings

For a number of years the Harcourt Community Chapel has served the area from Tory Hill, Essonville to Highland Grove. It is located in the Village of Harcourt to best serve the large area.

The many services and functions held at the chapel have provided a time of Christian fellowship and spiritual growth for many. A strong emphasis has been placed upon the youth program in giving spiritual guidance and wholesome recreation for the teenagers. Chapel Happenings would like to keep you informed of its various ministries. Friday evenings has been the traditional Young People's Program night. With a ball game lined up as an evening opener - Mr. Weatherman challenged the group and won out with periods of rain and wet terrain. The program concluded in the Chapel basement with indoor games, followed by a devotion period. Apart from a few special summer events, this concludes the Young People's for the term.

Sunday morning at 10 a.m. a large gathering met for an hour of worship. This service is held on alternate Sundays. Sunday School at 2:30 with classes for all ages has produced a very fine attendance and reflects the desire in hearts, both young and old, for a better knowledge of the Bible. This Sunday started the new quarter for the months of June, July and August and each of the younger classes received an attractive pupil's manual. Sunday School continues during the summer months and a welcome is extended to summer visitors and all who care to attend.

The 7:30 Gospel Service opened with a heartfelt message in song and continued with the Moody Science film, Voice of the Deep. This film displayed a fantastic colour display of the ocean depths and its inhabitants. The sea is a strange and wonderful part of God's universe. For many centuries man's ear has told him there is virtually no sound beneath the waters. 20th century technology has produced the hydrophone and unlocked a whole new world of discovery beneath the waters. The message of Voice of the Deep is amazingly relevant to man's needs today. Years ago man listened for sounds under the sea but hearing none concluded there was no sound. However, there were all types of sounds under water. Man just had the wrong kind of ear.

Next Sunday - Sunday School at 2:30 and at 7:30 taking part in the evening service, Miss Linda Sibley will be bringing a report on her teaching and missionary outreach in Pakistan at the Murree Christian School. Linda will be using a film in her presentation. Linda is well-known to many people in Haliburton County. She has recently returned to Canada. The evening presents a good opportunity to come and renew acquaintances with Linda and share both the blessings and the trials that she has experienced.

NANCY GRACE ANDERSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Anderson of Tory Hill, graduated May 30th, 1980 from Trent University with a B.A. majoring in Psychology and Sociology. Nancy is working in Regina, Sask., for the summer, and will return in September to Trent for an Honours Programme in Sociology.

Voice of the Deep concludes a series of 10 Moody Science films presented during the winter months by the chapel.

On the first Monday evening of each month the ladies of the chapel meet for a time of devotion and activity planning. All ladies are welcome. Wednesday evenings at 8 o'clock two bible study and prayer groups meet in homes east and west of the Chapel. This is a very important mid-week gathering.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

December 31, 1979

TO THE HALIBURTON COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

We have examined the Balance Sheet of the Haliburton County Board of Education as at December 31, 1979, the Revenue Fund statement of Operations and the Capital Fund Statement of Operations for the year then ended. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion these Financial Statements present fairly the financial position of the board as at December 31, 1979 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted for Ontario school boards applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Minden, Kinmount and Norland Horticultural Society members met in Norland United Church hall on Tuesday, May 27 to exchange flower and garden ideas and to hear the guest speaker, Mr. Len Shea of Lindsay. Mr. Shea is District 4 director and spoke to the group about growing lilies. There are 87 varieties of lilies and they are considered to be a plant rather than a bulb. Once a lily is established in a flower bed, it will continue to grow and bloom each year preferring a dry and sunny area and good drainage. The bulbs that are formed from the main plant can be planted separately to form new growth and flowers. Norland Horticultural Society is planning a flower show for Saturday, August 9 and the various classes of flowers and plants will be open for all interested persons to enter. Keep this in mind when planting your flower garden this spring. More details will be available at a later date. The annual Horticultural Convention will be in Thunder Bay on June 18, 19, 20. On Saturday, June 21 and Sunday, June 22, there will be a District 4 Festival of Flowers at St. John's Anglican Church on Hunter Street in Peterborough. The Anglican Synod meets at Trent University from June 15 to 18 and the flower festival will be part of this synod. The theme is "he shall have dominion from sea to sea and each society will have floral arrangements depicting one of the Canadian provinces. Quebec is the province that Norland Horticultural Society members have been chosen to portray.

At last the end of the hockey season and play-off! The lucky winner on Saturday, May 24 of Norland Fire-fighter's hockey pool was Raymond Weaver. Congratulations to all of the season winners and better luck next year to the rest of the participants.

Another fortunate person was Mrs. Ron Chynoweth when her entry was drawn at Norland Red and White store on Saturday, May 24 and she won a Philips four-quart slow cooker. There are two weeks left of this contest - May 31 to win a Philips 10-cup automatic coffee maker and June 7 when the prize will be a Philips Food Processor.

Our local firemen were summoned to a bush fire early Wednesday (May 28) afternoon on the property of the former Winterburn farm which now has been partially subdivided for cottages along the shoreline of Head Lake. About three acres was burned before the blaze was brought under control. Fortunately great billows of smoke were sighted by Elwood Baldwin who turned in the alarm in time to avert what could have been a bad forest fire because of the dry ground conditions that day. Natural Resources and Bexley Fire Department were also at the fire to assist the township firemen.

One lady who is a resident at Head Lake was pleased that she was in her car last week when she sighted a large black bear crossing Highway 503 west between the disposal site turn-off and the Deer Lake Road. Needless to say, she didn't stop the car and pursue the animal into the bush.

Norland Home and School Association are busy trying to raise enough money for playground and gym equipment for the elementary school students. It seems that the educational tax dollar only covers very basic athletic provisions. So plan to attend their fund-raising dance on Saturday, June 7 in Norland Community Hall. Gary Peters and his group Wildwood will be there to supply good dancing music, bar will be licensed under L.L.B.O., refreshments served and tickets are just $4.00 each. To purchase advance tickets, call Nancy Greer 454-8286.

Mrs. Dorothy Banks of Peterborough was the speaker at the Women's Institute Summary Day in the Government Building, Lindsay on Thursday, May 29. There were displays of crewel embroidery work that had been done by members of the 27 groups that had participated in this most interesting and creative class. Mrs. Banks told the over 230 ladies present in the hall, a little of the history and background of how "crewel" later renamed crewel embroidery work got started many years ago. Mrs. Banks, an historian and needlecraft teacher had brought a number of very attractive embroidery pieces, some of which she described to us, and all of them were on view for all to admire and examine.

Senior citizens are asked to remember the Foot Care Clinic that is being provided on June 10 in Pioneer Baptist Church, Norland, from 9:00 to 11:30 a.m. and also in Christ Anglican Church, Cobocok the same day from 1:00 to 3:30 p.m. If enough people are interested, this will be a regular monthly clinic. For an appointment regarding this new free service to seniors, please call 454-3377 or 454-3375.

It doesn't pay to walk off and leave your keys in your car because when you return to get it, you could find that it's missing. Just ask Dug Merrett - it happened to him last Wednesday when he was in the Cobocok Community Centre for a short time. Someone had stolen his vehicle when he returned to get it. Dug was lucky because his car was found on the Government Dock Road the next day and it had not been damaged by the thief(s). A lesson for all drivers!

Many thanks to everyone who has supported our local activities of this year's Spring Festival of the Arts in Victoria County. The audience was most enthusiastic to the Happy Wanderers Choral Group and the guest artist Henry Vant Erve, on May 29, a large crowd was in attendance at the bake sale and craft show and sale in Norland Community Hall on Friday evening and I'm sure that children and adults alike will enjoy the Polka Dot Door on Saturday morning and Tommy Hunter, Saturday evening. Many also are expected at the inter-faith church service on Sunday afternoon in Cobocok.

Area Boy Scouts presented Yvonne Penney, treasurer of the Haliburton County Association for Children with Learning Disabilities with a cheque for $238.55 last Thursday, the proceeds from the scouts' annual Fun Night. Presenting the cheque are Beaver Lance Stinson of Haliburton, Cub Bradley Archer, and Scout David Hulbig of Minden.

Weekend visitors with Grace Billings included her cousin Mrs. Ruby Hoag and husband of Barrhead, Alberta; Charlie Brohm of Norland and Ross Faulkner of Cobocok. She also had a Sunday visit from her nephew Jim Byne of Omemee and his wife.

Following a committee meeting, it was decided to hold the Festival of Faith at the Harcourt Community Centre, June 21 to 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Barr were visitors at Shelburne. While in the area they called on their friends, the Scotts, at Aurora and the Corrigan at Alliston.

A delegation met on Monday with the deputy minister of Culture and Recreation, Mr. Michael Noon, in support of the application from the Municipality of Glamorgan for a grant from Wintario for building a community centre in Gooderham. He was greatly interested in the briefs presented and the discussion that followed. He promised to take his recommendations to the Hon. Reuben Baetz, minister of Culture and Recreation, for a decision. While at Queen's Park, the group were met by John Eakins, M.P.P. and listened from the gallery to Question Period which proved interesting and informative.

Bob Burke and his wife, Marilyn, are assisting at the Pentecostal church for the summer months. We welcome them and their little daughter, Amy.

We are pleased to see Vaneita Pickens out again, after a period of illness.

Norman Maxwell, of Kakabeka Falls, is visiting his sister, Vivian Dovell and her husband, Tommy.

Sandra and Dale Dovell, and daughter Michelle, are spending the weekend in Oshawa.

Bible study at the Pentecostal church has been changed from Tuesday to Wednesday evenings. Mr. Sauve's discussions are found to be very interesting and helpful.

Garnet Maxwell is spending a week with his mother, Mrs. Ruby Maxwell.

Asphalt paving is continuing and at the time of writing has passed the turn to Highway 507. Motorists report an excellent surface from Tory Hill to Gooderham.

The pot luck supper of the Glamorgan senior citizens was well attended on Wednesday night. Many compliments were received on the meal itself and an enjoyable evening followed with Scottish dancing, square dancing and other steps. Music provided by Dorothy Robertson and later by Jack Gedney was thoroughly enjoyed.

At the Thursday night craft course in Gooderham school, some very attractive wall hangings were completed. The next meeting will be at Mrs. Marie Dewey's home where basketry weaving will be introduced.

Nancy Strobach of Brampton was a guest of her sister, Mrs. Sandy Barr and Ron.

Every Friday is Hot Dog Day at Gooderham school. Hot dogs are prepared and served at noon hour for those students who wish to buy. The money gathered in this way is spent on school trips, one of which will be a trip to Toronto in June.

The new display cases for frozen food in Barr's store are very attractive and a wider variety of frozen food is now available.

Friends of Frank Letzner, of Buffalo, are pleased to see him renewing acquaintances in the community.

Priscilla and Clifford Mintz celebrated their 44th wedding anniversary on May 30 with a dinner at Haliburton. Congratulations to you both!

Mrs. Pearl Steel, of Montreal, is visiting her sister-in-law, Sylvia Silk and Jack. Sylvia is returning with her for a week's visit with her brother and other relatives in Montreal.

Verna Webster caught a 7½ pound lake trout in Big Bear Lake last week. Reports tell us that it made a delicious meal.

Howard Hillis, Alfred Trotter and Ron Barr attended the "Disaster" seminar at PineStone representing the Glamorgan Fire Department last week. We are indebted to our volunteer firemen for their efficient service.

We are pleased to see Mrs. Alma Morrison back in Gooderham after spending the winter months in Haliburton.

Friends of Mrs. Edna Storey will be happy to know that she was able to come to her cottage on Pine Lake after having been quite ill for some time. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Rose Surplis. Best wishes for continued improvement, Mrs. Storey.

You've got a right to equal pay for doing substantially the same work as a man.
In fact, you've got a law.

Getting paid the same as a man when you're doing substantially the same work is the law in Ontario. The trouble is, many female employees haven't been paid according to the law, for one reason or another.

Examples.

It's not good enough for employers to set wage rates on the basis of job title, or to use minor differences in work to justify differences in pay.

For example men employed as clerks may have to do some purchasing of plant equipment or supplies perhaps, while a woman clerk may do the purchasing of smaller items—stationery, office needs, etc. But minor differences such as locking up at night, handling petty cash or lifting heavier loads do not make a "substantial difference" in the job and do not necessarily entitle the man to a higher rate of pay. The law states that when a woman is doing substantially the same work as a man, she must be paid the same.

What "substantially the same" means.

To clarify it for you, "substantially the same" means that the skill, effort, responsibility and working conditions required for the work are similar and any difference in these are of a minor nature.

In considering skill, attention is paid to factors such as experience, training and education required to do the work. In considering effort, attention is paid to the degree of physical or mental exertion required to do the work. And in considering responsibility, attention is paid to the degree of accountability to others in doing the work.

Enforcement of the law.

To enforce the equal pay law, the government of Ontario has added extra staff to the Employment Standards Branch. Their job is to make spotchecks into businesses across the province, to audit pay practices and to investigate complaints made by you to the Ministry of Labour.

Equal pay for equal work. It's your right. And it's the law.

If you want more information or feel you have a valid complaint, call or write your local Employment Standards Branch of the Ontario Ministry of Labour.

To call your local Employment Standards Branch, check your telephone directory or ask Bell Directory Assistance for the toll free number.

Paying a woman less than a man for doing substantially the same work isn't just unfair, it's illegal.

tion, Treasurer Cec. Watson and wife Edith, Ruth and Bill Pitkin representing the Fenelon Bowling Lanes. Each lady at the head table was presented with a corsage from the president and the men with boutonnieres.

After the meal was over, Cec. Watson thanked the ladies for the lovely supper. Lois Ballam, President, thanked everyone for their support during the year, the executive for their help and the spares for being so faithful. She also thanked all those who sponsored her for the Big Brothers Bowlathon helping her to raise $141.34 to the worthy cause. Shirley and Ross Wilson were called upon to fill the group in on the record scores, 1000 Lakes Bowling news and other items of interest. Bill Pitkin announced that he would be taking over the bowling alley as manager as of August 1, 1980 and hoped to help in any way possible during the coming bowling season.

The trophies and prizes were then awarded. Ruth Pitkin presented a gift to Audrey Gerris for the high ladies average of 195. Don Mackie won the men's high average presented by Bill Pitkin. Ross Wilson presented Jean Barkwell with a gift for high triple, 794. Men's high triple was 751. Shirley Wilson presented trophies to Graham Everett and John Fothergill who tied for triple. Ladies high single went to Joan Peters with 358 and men's high single went to Wally Everett with 388.

The season's winners were Jim Deyell's team. They received a large trophy with their names inscribed on it as well as individual trophies. Bowling with Jim was Jean Barkwell, Jerry Peters, Audrey Gerris, Glenn Worrell and Ada Clausen. The "A" series winner was Bessie Sedgwick's team. Bowling with Bessie were Wally Everett, Ruth Bell, Lloyd McIntyre, Mearl Hopkins and Jack Mackie. They all received trophies. Winners of the "B" series was Sheila Everett's team. Bowling with her were Wally Young, Edna Pearce, Harold Hopkins, Thelma Mackie and Phil Hunt. Trophies were presented to each.

The one who spared the most during the bowling season was Marg Tretheway. Her brother, Ross Wilson, received her gift in her absence. Gifts for the most improved bowlers went to Betty Young and Edna Pearce.

A corsage was presented to Jean Barkwell by president Lois Ballam. Jean has bowled with the Coboconk league since it started back in 1960. Thelma and Jack Mackie and their son Don were also mentioned as joining the league the following year.

The large Ralph Watson Memorial Trophy was presented to a surprised Joan Deyell for "Bowler of the Year". This trophy is given to someone each year who has contributed a lot to five-pin bowling in Fenelon beyond just bowling every week. Joan is publicity chairman for 1000 Lakes Bowlers Association as well as Fenelon House, she is secretary of the Coboconk League, and paints all the 1000 Lakes bowling shirts.

The new executive for the coming season is president - Sheila Everett; vice-president - John Fothergill; secretary - Joan Deyell; treasurer - Cecil Watson. The captains will be John Fothergill, Phil Hunt, Wally Everett, Bryce Fountain, Cheryl Carr, Mary Reid, Joan Woodside and Lois Ballam.

The rest of the evening was thoroughly enjoyed by dancing to the music provided by John Fothergill from the Kawartha Sight and Sound in Fenelon Falls.

Thane and Terry Yeo from Yeo's Shell Service Station enjoyed a holiday to the east coast, returning home on Wednesday. They visited Thane's mother, Mrs. Lillian MacKinnon at Summerside, P.E.I. and his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Yeo at Harmony, P.E.I.

The Ed Hoag's returned home to Barrhead, Alberta on Wednesday, after a visit with Mrs. A. Marles, also the Ross Faulkners, and other friends in the area.

The "face-lift" to the former "Colonel Coby" restaurant building is a big improvement. What paint, aluminum siding and a bit of carpenter work won't do for any dwelling!

Art Griffin was admitted to Ross Memorial Hospital on Thursday.

Flo Cruickshanks underwent surgery in Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, last week. We wish you folks real good health and may you soon be home again.

The L.A. of Branch 519 Coboconk Legion held their election of officers on Monday night, May 26. Those elected were president - Jean Barkwell; 1st vice-president -

Marjorie Bradimore; 2nd vice-president - Peggy Hall; secretary - Jean Callan; treasurer - Joan Rummy; sgt. of arms - Edna Pearce; executive - Muriel Ibbotson; Lorna Harris, Sadie Callan, Gwen "Toots" Barkwell; sports officer - Norma Herbert.

Zone commander Phyllis Montemello of Lindsay and two others attended the election of officers.

Hello again! Dinner guests at our house on Saturday were Helen and Alex Graham of Norland. Later we had grandson Jason, who stayed the weekend. After church, Sunday morning, he and I headed out, walking to Win and Bill Wilson's house, where Jason wanted to see the baby ducks and choose the one to be his namesake. We had walked two miles when dad and grandpa came along and drove us the rest of the way.

The Norland Public School held its walk-a-thon on Saturday and I understand all finished the walk. Jason and his mom both walked the three miles. Proceeds are to go towards the school gym landing mats.

Bingo has begun again at the community centre in Coboconk and is run by the "Coby" Lions. Regular games pay $12 and it's an enjoyable way to spend an evening, every Wednesday starting with early bird games at 7:30 p.m.

Other bingos are Monday starting time 7:30 p.m. at the Catholic Church hall in Bobcaygeon and run by Father Hart; Tuesday, starting at 8 p.m. at Kirkfield, sponsored by the Lions and held in the community hall; Thursday, 7:30 p.m., Legion in Coboconk and Friday, 7:30 p.m., Legion in Kinmount.

The Norland ladies softball league downed our Kinmount ladies on Tuesday. Up to this time, I was unable to get the final score. During the course of the game, however, there was an accident on the highway (35) when a vehicle passed and cut off a truck carrying a load of wood blocks causing the truck to go off the road and overturn. A number of young men watching the ball game pulled the driver from the truck, who very luckily was unhurt.

A bush fire was reported in the Head Lake area on Wednesday. Take care when and where you light your fires and be very sure they are completely extinguished before you go on your way. It takes a long time for a tree to grow.

I hear the United Church ladies salad supper was a huge success and absolutely delicious.

We talked with my hubby's sister, May Campbell in Miami, Florida, on Sunday via Ma Bell and May tells us she could see the black smoke hanging over the city from where she lives. Let's pray things settle back to some semblance of peace and order soon.

Sorry to see Mary Martin's daughter with her foot in cast. Pulled tendons were the after result of a fall. Get better soon, Erin.

Mary Bradbury of Bobcaygeon is an early baseball injury recipient. She's wearing a finger cast after the well remembered "wrong way finger bend".

Birds have built their nests in our roof area and are now acting as though we should move out. We get dived-bombed every time we go out to the carport.

This may be an untimely recipe but it can be made anytime and is a very tasty dish when company drops in. It's called "Christmas Bread":

2 cups sifted flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, scant 3/4 cup sugar, 1/4 tsp. salt, 1 cup chopped candied mixed fruits, 1/2 cup chopped nuts, 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, 3 tbsps. butter (melted). Sift flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Add fruit and nuts. Beat eggs and combine with milk and melted butter. Add to flour mixture, stirring just enough to moisten the flour. Pour into well greased loaf pan and let stand thirty minutes. Bake 1 hour in oven 375 degrees F. I made one this week and it's really very nice.

Nice to see Gertie Crichton of "Coby" out and around again after her illness.

Sorry though, to hear Margaret Kylie of Kinmount is on the sick list again. Get well soon, Maggie. We miss you.

Madeline Pearson, Martha Mansfield, Ruth Menard, Aileen Brown and Marguerite Scarlett attended the C.W.L. convention, held in Parry Sound, Sunday and Monday this week. Bishop Doyle along with 16 priests representing the Diocese of Peterborough also attended. There were approximately 188 people seated to a roast beef dinner and I'm told the teen-aged young ladies who tended the table were real pros when it came to getting everyone served quickly and efficiently and could put a lot of us "older ladies" to shame. Four of the Kinmount ladies spent an extra day in Parry Sound, arriving home on Tuesday.

Ruth Menard and Alma Rettie motored to Nobel recently to visit Alma's late sister's four great grandchildren.

Bill and I, on our way home, along 503, this evening (Thursday) almost came to terms with a beautiful big doe who decided to choose that moment to come loping across the road from the bush. A bit close for comfort!

I enjoyed your visit on Thursday, Ruth Menard.

Once again, I've been told that at least one lady would like to have me write up more on Kinmount and once again I say I cannot tell you what's going on if you don't tell me. I can be reached at 488-2399 if you have any stories to tell.

Sorry to hear "Bernie", our friendly "Coby" Legion steward had to leave her post and go home due to a severe cold and loss of voice. She will be seeing her doctor, so hopefully he'll have her all back to her former self soon. Hang in there Bernie.

Helen and Alex Graham will be in their own Norland home again by the time you read this and they are certainly looking forward to being settled once again.

It is nice to see the Candlewood Gift Shop on the dock open once again, only on weekends at present but will be open daily after June 21, and we will see the familiar faces of Joyce and Phyllis McKee in attendance again.

Jennie McLennan was kept busy recently when she had her 14-month old grandson visit her for a week, while his parents, Andy and Melanie of Oshawa, went on a trip to the Bahamas.

The Dorset Senior Club is going by bus to Woodbine race track on June 19. Anyone wishing to go along may call the Large residence at 766-2277.

It's nice to see the repair work being done on Hwy. 35 making for more pleasant driving.

Hint: Marigolds planted in your vegetable or flower garden will keep away many bugs. Bugs don't like marigolds so plant liberally.

Intended for last week - "One of the nicest things about May is the fact that the flowers are coming up and the heating bills have gone down."

What unseasonal weather we have been having with temperatures up in the 80's F. We hope it will bake the blackflies as the little beasts spoil the nicest season of the year. We are all hoping and praying that there will be a heavy rainfall in north-western Ontario to quell the terrible forest fires they are experiencing.

Mrs. Lorena Zimmerman of Cambridge and her sister are holidaying at the former's cottage on the bay above Dorset.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterry of the Niagara district are occupying their cottage on Paint Lake. The cottage was formerly owned by the Orrie Averys.

Russ and Eleanor Burton and their children, David and Maureen of Scarborough spent the long week at their cottage on Paint Lake. Their other daughter, Mary was on a trip with a Girl Guide troop to Windsor, the Ford Museum at Dearborn, Mich. and the bird sanctuary at Point Pelee. Accompanying the Burtons were a Vietnamese couple from Laos, who have been sponsored by Glenayr United Church, Scarborough, where the Burtons attend. They are Me and Amphay Phommamang and are staying with Russ and Eleanor until they conquer the English language. They are a young couple and seem to be adjusting to Canadian Life-style very well.

We wish to send our very best wishes for a speedy recovery to Dot Lock who is a patient in Dufferin Area Hospital, Orangeville.

Instead of having your drapes dry-cleaned, put them in the dryer on medium heat and put a damp terry towel in with them. You will be surprised how much lint and dust comes out and how fresh and clean they are.

Woodland plants choose their companions, particular about moisture, texture of soil

by Eleanor Skelton

Have you wondered why many of your favourite flowers of the woods just will not make themselves at home on your own lot? Here are some of the reasons.

Most woodland plants are highly specialized, the various species being quite particular about their requirements. They are fussy about the amount of moisture available, the texture and chemical content of the soil, the amount of sunlight at the right time in their growing season, the range of temperature they can endure. More surprising they are choosy about their neighbours.

Plants tend to live in definable communities such as those characteristic of the Cedar swamp, the Maple-Beech forests, the Spruce-Tamarack bog and many others, each with its list of plant species likely to be found there. A botanist hoping to spot a certain rare species will as a matter of course, go armed with the knowledge of the other species among which he can expect to find it.

Some plants are entirely dependent on others for their survival. A number of our native orchids, for instance, must have a certain fungus living in close association with them in the soil. Lichens show even a closer inter-relationship as they are in fact, a combination of two forms of plant life. An alga and a fungus come together to produce a new plant - a lichen.

There are associations between plants and insects. One of these provides the insect with nectar while at the same time providing the plant with a means of pollination. Some flowers are only pollinated by a certain species of insect and are only found in locations where that insect can thrive.

The temperature range and the length of daylight hours which control the locations of many plants are largely matters of latitude and the contours of the land. Our White Trillium (Trillium grandiflorum) is one which adheres fairly strictly to a northern boundary line - a line running across the county at a latitude of approximately 45.05 degrees at the altitude of Buttermilk Falls. Driving up Hwy. 35 it is striking how this flower grows in abundance up to a point approaching the falls and then comes to a dead stop. To the east and west the dividing line adjusts somewhat to the north or south according to the altitude. The Painted Trillium (Trillium undulatum) - the smaller white one with the cherry red blotches at the base of the petals - is more northerly and its range overlaps with that of the white Trillium by a small degree in Haliburton County. The Red Trillium (Trillium erectum) has a broader range here and can inhabit the same woods as either the above two.

If you have noticed a variety of patterns to the white Trillium - green streaks, green petals, double flowers - know that these are not new species as was once believed but the result of a virus infection which has attacked the plant at a very early stage. The new pattern may persist in the plant for several years.

Should you be looking for a helpful guide to the trees, shrubs and flowers of this area you will find that the recently published "Trees, Shrubs and Flowers to Know in Ontario" by McKay and Catling covers the majority of species you will find here, and the descriptive material is interesting. It can be obtained at the Candlewood Gift Shop.

June is the month of the longest days - when roses set the lawns ablaze... would one could stay the steps of time - and halt them at the summer's prime. When a blackbird sings on a flowering spray - in the morning glory of the day - a voice within your heart will say - that surely the best is in store. When you see a rainbow across the sky it's as if an angel passes by - bringing assurance that help is nigh and surely the best is in store - When you watch the moon on a lovely night and the world is bathed in pearly light - Peace bringeth hope and fears take flight - for surely the best is in store.

by Wyatt Legge

On Friday, May 16, Miriam Lewis, Dorothy and Becky Davidson took Murray McColl and Wyatt Legge to see Famous People Players in Bancroft. We enjoyed it very much.

Tuesday, May 20, we hopped in Miriam's and Robert's cars and went to Peterborough to see the circus. We saw lions, tigers, elephants, bears, clowns and a monkey that took a girl's clothes off. Ha ha. That was a very funny part. On our way back through town we stopped at Harvey's for hamburgers.

On Wednesday we went on a Mystery Tour to Extensive's sale. We went to the store and Stan Packard treated us to ice cream cones.

We started working on the barrels for PineStone Inn and Wig-a-mog on May 21, and finished them off this week.

We have been working full time at our orders, trying to get them all done on time. We finished off PineStone Inn's order for 36 tee-off markers. We also finished nine coat racks for Haliburton Lodge. We are also getting ready for the Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts sale.

On Monday, May 26, A.R.C. employees were filmed in action for an educational T.V. program called People Patterns. Everyone was excited about this experience. This program is scheduled to be aired sometime in October.

Stan Packard cut the lawn for Sir Sandford Fleming College and Bob Nimigon and Wyatt Legge cut Barb Bolin's lawn on May 28. We have quite a few lawn cutting contracts already.

On Tuesday, Sue Clements came to help Helen Bobinski and Larry Watt cook hamburgers. It was a gorgeous day so we had a picnic.

Barbara Peel will be coming in every Thursday at 1:00 p.m. to help Helen do her needlework. She's really excited about it.

than 75 percent of total farm assets.

The program runs from April 1, to December 31, 1980.

Application is made at the termination of the loan or after program expires.

Application forms should be available in about two weeks from lending agencies and the Lindsay Agricultural Office.

Anhydrous Warning
A common activity on many corn fields now is the application of anhydrous ammonia as a nitrogen fertilizer.

Anhydrous is one of the most dangerous substances that farmers handle. Accidental contact with the eyes can destroy your sight in a matter of seconds. Everyone working around anhydrous should be wearing safety glasses.

Also accidental contact with the skin can cause severe burning. Several farm workers in the area have been injured already this year. Be sure to wear gloves and keep your shirt on when applying anhydrous.

Atrazine Residue
We've received several reports of problems with atrazine residues from 1979. Farmers who applied as little as one pound of atrazine per acre last year are finding damage on grain and forage seedlings this year.

Probably the best rule to follow is if any atrazine is applied to corn one year, then only corn is grown on that field the next year.

Right now is the time to make accurate written records of which corn fields received atrazine this year. Then file those notes so you can easily find them when you're planning next year's cropping program.

Both forage and grain seed costs too much to lose the seeding to an unexpected atrazine residue.

It appears that the main culprit in high atrazine residues is the spraying equipment.

Surveys show that most sprayers do not maintain a constant level of application of material. They need to be re-calibrated and checked every few days.

Too many farmers never both to calibrate their sprayer, so their rate of application of herbicide is, at best, a calculated guess. If atrazine is the herbicide being applied with an uncalibrated sprayer, the chances of a residue are much greater.

Don't gamble. Calibrate your sprayer, and if you use atrazine on a corn field this year, plant that field to corn again next year.

our with a decorated birthday cake and we all joined together to sing happy birthday. Special people celebrating their birthdays in May were Irene Stewart, Ida Schell, Marjorie Kanally, Mary Grozelle and Harry Robinson.

Grace Coburn was here on Friday afternoon to lead the sing song. Norma Barron came with her to play the piano.

We were pleased to view two very interesting films this week. "The Living Mountains" was a colourful movie filmed in the Andes Mountains. We saw life changes from the foothills to the top of the gigantic mountain. The scenery was beautiful and the residents particularly enjoyed the wildlife. The "Other chill, makes about 1 1/2 cups. Mrs. Mary-Ellen Stephens of Indianapolis, Indiana, has been visiting with her mother Mrs. Doreen James.

One way to live happily ever after is not to be after too much.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Cox visited with the Ron Cox's and Alan Cox's of Peterborough and the Goldie Hendersons of Rosemeath for a few days last week.

Winner of the coffee maker at Minden Red and White last week, was Jack Lee from Bend of the River cottages.

Gerald Coulter of Toronto spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Coulter.

The Minden Women's Institute chartered bus trip to the Kitchener Waterloo district left the village at 6:40 a.m. with 47 sleepy passengers on board. After a coffee break at Markham, a brief tour of the K-W area and a visit to the downtown market, the driver Jack Barley took his passengers to St. Andrews Presbyterian Church for a noon luncheon. In the afternoon everyone visited Doon Pioneer Village. This village of artifacts is a really rewarding place to visit with barns, homes, schools, churches and other buildings used in pioneer times. There is also a county display a real "find" for historians.

Most of the afternoon was spent at Doon Pioneer Village, but no one was lost as all 47 were accounted for when they climbed aboard for the trip to Fairview Mall for the evening meal. Then it was homeward bound. Near Ballantyne a large hot air balloon landed and the bus stopped so all could watch.

It was an enjoyable day - the weather cooperated and a good time was had by all!

Thought to leave with you - The World needs ...

A little more kindness and a little less greed;

A little more giving and a little less greed;

A little more smile and a little less frown;

A little less kicking a man when he's down,

A little more "We" and a little less "I";

A little more laugh and a little less cry;

A few more flowers on the pathway of life,

And fewer on graves at the end of the strife.

Adios and take care now.

Carnarvon News

by Yvonne Penney

This past weekend was rather a noisy one with all the thunder storm activity. Here in Carnarvon, we had hail, driving winds and torrents of rain several times. We certainly needed the rain as everything was so dry but there was a certain amount of destruction associated with the storms.

Children should avoid wild animals

Children should be warned to avoid wild animals that could be rabid, especially skunks and foxes," Natural Resources Minister James Auld said recently.

The minister said cases of skunk rabies were reported in several southern Ontario cities this spring.

"Children are often the innocent victims and should be warned about picking up or approaching stray animals," he said.

The minister said that each spring, young raccoons, foxes and skunks are found and taken home by hikers, campers and cottagers who assume them to be orphaned when, in fact, they are not.

"When picked up, the animal may appear to be perfectly healthy but its behaviour may change sometime later, when in captivity, exposing 'benefactors' to the dreaded disease," Auld said.

"In any case, we advise strongly against anyone trying to rear animals in captivity. This is contrary to their wild nature and the animals often become unsuitable as pets by the end of the summer," the minister said.

The family dog or cat should be inoculated against all diseases caused by wild animals.

Parliament

government should be authorized to borrow so much money at this particular time.

The usual practice followed by Parliament in granting sums of money, or borrowing authority, is for the bill to contain information as to why the money is needed.

For example, once every year Parliament is asked to grant approval to the government to spend a specific sum of money to pay public service wages, salaries and fees. It is easy for Members to debate such a bill, because we are discussing specific items and details.

In the case of bills such as C-30, they should be tabled in conjunction with a budget, but the present government has not yet tabled a budget, and the Minister of Finance refuses to give us any indication as to when he will present a budget.

The only thing that we know about Bill C-30 is that it will plunge us $12 billion deeper into debt, only three months after the present government was returned to office, and before we know what the government plans in the way of remedies for serious national problems.

When the Progressive Conservatives were in the government we initiated policies designed to reduce waste in government spending, and to control cost over-runs in government projects. It is already apparent that the present government does not intend to follow up on our initiatives in this area, and that they intend to continue a policy of reckless spending and deficit financing.

Two examples of this have been revealed recently by my party's Treasury Board critic. One concerns the enormous cost of the government's decision to cancel the transfer of the Parks Canada regional office from Cornwall to Peterborough.

The other concerns the cost over-runs on 497 government projects, where final estimates of $4.7 billion ended up costing the Canadian taxpayers $6.3 billion, an increase of $1.6 billion.

The president of the Treasury Board has released a document showing that it will cost the government $1.1 million in compensation payments to employees who have suffered losses and other problems as a result of the cancellation of the plans to move the Parks Canada regional office.

Nearly half of this money, or $536,000, will not be covered by current Treasury Board policy, but the Board says it plans to pass this off by calling the payments "an act of grace", whatever that is supposed to mean.

As an example, the spouse of one Parks Canada employee will be paid a lump sum of $30,000 as compensation for career injury, interim costs and lost income.

Another Parks Canada employee will receive $10,000 in compensation because he turned down a chance to move elsewhere and receive a promotion because he preferred to move to Peterborough. Bill Domm, member of Parliament for Peterborough riding, said that 115 of the 145 Parks Canada employees in Cornwall had signed a form agreeing to move to Peterborough, and many of them had already sold their homes in Cornwall and bought new ones in Peterborough.

Domm accused the government of cancelling the move from Cornwall because Peterborough riding returned a Conservative to Parliament, while Cornwall returned a Liberal member to Parliament.

Apart from the senseless disruption in the functions of Parks Canada and in the lives of the employees, this is an expensive way to thank the people in Cornwall riding for voting Liberal in the last election.
